Dallas attorneys announce newly formed intellectual property boutique organized to focus on business, technology, and innovation counseling

Dallas, Texas, September 1, 2009 – Attorneys Darin M. Klemchuk and Kelly J. Kubasta formally announced their partnership, and the launch of their new law firm Klemchuk Kubasta LLP, located in north central Dallas.

A full-service intellectual property boutique, Klemchuk Kubasta LLP (K&K) offers an array of intellectual property (IP) services in the areas of patents, trademarks, trade dress, copyrights, and trade secrets. K&K supports a diverse and growing client base of companies and serves as local counsel in IP and commercial litigation cases in Texas courts.

Klemchuk, Kubasta and other firm attorneys have years of intellectual property experience with large full-service firms, which led them to recognize the critical need for better client service and value, as clients continually seek improved options for legal services in the intellectual property field. According to Kubasta, “We were led to develop a non-traditional business model that is dedicated to client service, and our firm was formed as a direct response to inefficiencies of large firms that often lead to exorbitant fees. By building an efficient and highly skilled legal staff without unnecessary overhead, our clients enjoy outstanding intellectual property legal services at a significantly better value.”

“Because we are passionate about our intellectual property practice, we seek clients that are equally passionate about their businesses so we can focus on opportunities that present disruptive technologies and unique business models,” explained Klemchuk, who also stated that client companies have enthusiastically embraced the firm’s vision, and that the firm’s staff is excited about formally announcing the launch and their dedication to serving as the premier full-service intellectual property boutique law firm in the Dallas Fort Worth area.
